ROCHESTER 26, UNION 25

Inability to Score Fouls Gives Game to Rochester

Friday night, January the tenth, in the Schenectady Armory, Rochester increased its group of victories to three. Union's season came near opening in the same fashion as the football season; had it not been for an unfortunate foul in the last minute and a half of play and an accurate free throw for Rochester, the game would have been a tie. When judging this game, we must of course, take the above fact into consideration, that it was Rochester's third appearance and Union's first, so the visitors naturally had a certain advantage. Another advantage was rather noticeable; when it came to a toss up between two men, the Rochester player would often make a quick recovery because of his superior height.

The college band did its usual good work, but the cheering was not up to the standard set at the 1912 football games for the simple reason that the fellows did not bunch together enough. However, when the rooters started to give a siren for the team a section of the bleachers broke down, much to the amusement of all not concerned. But everybody forgot that little incident when the whistle blew for to start at 8:27.

THE FIRST HALF

The players of both teams began the contest cautiously, and at last Rochester became so cautious that a foul was called for delaying the game. Union missed her free throw, and the ball went quickly to Dewey who tried a long shot without success. A second foul was called on Rochester, but again Union failed to take advantage. But that was forgotten when J. Beaver, made the first basket of the season for his team. When, however, two Garnet players were on one Rochester man, the foul was taken advantage of and the score stood two to one. Dewey quickly made it four to one, and Foulds retaliated by adding two more points. Then the Yellow tried a little shoving, and Union again lost her free throw. Events began to move more swiftly, and D. Beaver neatly dropped the ball in the basket. But to make up for their speed, both teams grew a little clumsy and a double foul was called. That added another point to the Rochester score, but Dewey did not make it do the same for Union. When a personal foul was called a moment later, Beaver did no better than Dewey. But Dewey and D. Beaver retaliated by adding two points apiece to the Union total. Rochester brought her score up two more points. Then Union tried a dribble but the shot did not drop in the basket. A foul on Rochester's part was of no advantage to the Garnet, but a similar mishap on the part of the local players netted the visitors another point. It became evident directly that the Union men were not watching their opponents as carefully as they should, for Rochester caged the sphere in the most leisurely manner imaginable. But a pass diagonally across the court to Dewey resulted in another addition to the Garnet score, to which Rochester replied by a similar action. Then Beaver and Houghton both scored. The passing for Union became ragged for a time. Beaver surprised everyone by making good on a free throw. Houghton began to follow Schell's example in guarding his man carefully. The playing became a bit wild. Four fouls alternated between Dewey and Rochester, but none was utilized. Schell was out of the game a few minutes. J. Beaver finished the half by a successful shot. Thus the score stood: Rochester 13, Union 19. But the Garnet had missed eight free throws, which reminds us somewhat of a certain game last year.

THE SECOND HALF

opened most auspiciously for Union. Jake Beaver, in quick succession, made two successful shots, but the yellow five did the same thing immediately after. They had been making long shots during the first half, but now those long ones came more into the lime light than ever. They had a bit of hard luck, for three fine long shots wobbled on the edge of the basket and fell out. But some clever pass work made the fourth trial a success. A foul for holding was called, but as usual in this game it did Union no good. Union then had a period of hard luck exactly like that of Rochester; three fine shots fell on the wrong side of the basket. Dewey was then compelled to go out of the game for a few minutes. Shortly after that incident, a glance at the score board showed that four more points had been added to Rochester's account, all on long throws. The score was a tie. J. Beaver quickly broke the tie by caging the sphere again. But it was no use. Neary raised his team's record by two points. Minute and a half to play! Foul on Union! Successful free throw! Wood enters the game, but only in time to hear the whistle blow for the end. The Rochester team gives a college yell of triumph, for the score is 26 to 25 in their favor. The second half belonged completely to Rochester.

Undoubtedly Neary's consistent guarding, long shots, and pass work made him the Rochester star. Both Beavers did their usual good work. Dewey made three good baskets. Houghton made a brilliant shot. Schell guarded well but made no score. However, considering that this was the first game, the playing of the team, with the exception of free throws, was excellent.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

The Cosmopolitan Club held a meeting last week and mapped out a course for the term. It was decided that a meeting should be held every fifteen days. At these meetings the members, of different nationalities, will tell something about their country and about the life there. There will also be some special speakers at different times during the term.

TWO GAMES SCHEDULED WITH R. P. I.

The student body recently voted, upon the recommendation of our Athletic Board, to the effect that Union resume athletic relations with Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

For a number of years past, these two institutions have not battled for athletic supremacy owing to causes which are now history and all but forgotten.

The two colleges have endeavored for a number of years to unite the broken bonds, but it was only lately that this was made possible through the efforts of Prof. W. L. Robb, of the R. P. I., and Dr. McComber, of Union.

That Union students were heartily in favor of such, was self evident from the recent vote taken on the subject in college meeting. Both of these old time honored institutions are to be congratulated for this hearty and unselfish action, for certainly two colleges, so closely related in a geographical way, can only accomplish best results through friendly bonds.

Wm. J. Lewis, basketball manager, has already arranged for two games, the first to be played at the Armory on Friday evening, February 7th, and the second, a return game in Troy, on the 21st of the same month. The baseball and football managements have also taken steps toward the scheduling of games with R. P. I. and it hoped that all the students will attend these contests and thus show that we have only the friendliest feeling toward our neighboring college.

—:O:—

Dean Ripton and Dr. Barnes remarked the excellent standings of this year's freshman class. Notwithstanding the large enrollment of the class, there was an unusually small number of conditions and only twelve men have left college. Two new men joined the class at the opening of the winter term.

THE FIRST MUSICAL

At the first recital of this season's course, held in the college chapel Tuesday evening, January 7, a large and appreciative audience greeted the great Russian violinist, Mr. Efrem Zimbalist. The audience was one of the largest ever assembled in the chapel for an entertainment of this kind. Mr. Eugen Lutsky was accompanist, and played beautifully a number of solos. He was, like Mr. Zimbalist, a master of the musician's art.

The program opened with a selection in D minor of Brahms's. This was followed by two Wagner songs, "The Beautiful Prize" and "Irish Songs," after which Mr. Zimbalist played a quaint dance by Cyril Scott. Mr. Lutsky followed with two solos, "Berceuse," from Gretcheninoff-Lutsky and the "Mephisto" from Liszt. The last group opened with "Humoresque" by Gregg, and "Long Ago" from MacDowell. These were followed by a composition by Mr. Zimbalist himself and was particularly pleasing and beautiful, as were the two closing selections, one from Cui and a Russian masterpiece, "Scenes" by Hubay.

The next concert of the season is scheduled for February 11, when Miss Margaret Keyes will give a song recital.

RENEWED RELATIONS WITH R. P. I.

It is pleasant news to every Union man to hear that Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute has accepted so cordially our proposals for a renewal of athletic relations. It is a step which should have been taken long ago but which, through prejudice, has been restrained until the present time. However, we gladly forget all that was unpleasant in our former dealings with R. P. I., and begin the new year with brightest hopes for successful relationship in every way. We feel that the year 1913 is the beginning of better athletic and social seasons for both institutions. Doubtless we shall henceforth feel free and welcome to visit each other's games, aside from the contests held between the two colleges, and enjoy the other numerous advantages of renewed friendship.

Of course, we may justly expect that the games between R. P. I. and Union will test the seating capacity of the bleachers and thereby prove a great asset to each institution. No doubt the many alumni of R. P. I. and Union scattered about through the neighboring cities will turn out in force to support their Alma Maters and thus raise the excitement and interest at the various contests to the highest pitch.

We are informed that efforts are being advanced to arrange games in every line of sport and we sincerely cherish the wish that these efforts will bring material results. Naturally all games will be warmly contested as the two institutions have teams very evenly matched, and, since we are certain that only the best elements of sportsmanship will be shown by both sides, we are impatiently awaiting the first matches which will be held during the basketball season.

GO TO THE PROM

Now that the strain of examination week is past and we are relaxing once more into the usual mode of procedure, we may pause a moment to consider the social attractions which the college has to offer this month. The Sophomore Soiree will be held at the Schenectady Boat Club and the Junior Promenade at the Hotel Ten Eyck in Albany. As far as the attractiveness and fitness of these selected spots are concerned we need offer no comment. Every student who has attended dances at either place will vouch for their exceptional advantages. We would urge the student body to support the men in charge of the Junior Week plans. Show loyalty to your college and class. It is to be regretted if many men refrain from the festivities for financial reasons. 'Twould be better to sacrifice and economize along other less pleasurable lines. The Soiree and the Prom are two of the best, if not the very best dances of the year. Junior Week is the recognized social season of the college year as is evident from the fact that the faculty sets apart the week end for this purpose. It is possible that the faculty might recall this favor if they believed that too few students were taking advantage of it.

These hops, coming as they do so early in the term, a week earlier than usual, will not allow the argument of interference with college work. The chances are you won't study during the vacation so why not go to the Prom? It's too soon after Christmas vacation to go home again and if you really must see her, have her come and enjoy the dances with you. It is a splendid means of returning social compliments and will form in your memory a happy epoch to which, during the remainder of the year, and even longer, you will look back with pleasure.

—:O:—

THE LITERARY CONTEST

The conditions of the Prize Contest in literary articles appear again in this issue. Lack of acquaintance with these conditions, press of work and social attractions at this time of the year probably account for the small number of contributions received hitherto. The first article accepted appears in another part of this issue. The fact that this is a metrical effort should not imply that this form of literature is more desirable than prose articles. In fact it is probable that poem articles will be very few. The form of one's effort is quite unlimited and literary excellence is the prime requisite. It is hoped that this term will witness a decided growth of interest in the competition that Dr. Richmond's generous offer has made possible.

MISSION CLASSES ORGANIZED

The usual Mission Study courses of the winter are being held on Tuesday evenings from 7:00 to 8:00 P. M., at Silliman Hall. The first meetings of the course were held last night. The courses have been selected with marked care and afford a particularly good opportunity for enlightenment on social conditions in our own and foreign countries. The courses are as follows:

1 "Christian Missions and Social Progress"

Leader—Mr. Warren C. Taylor

(A series of studies of what foreign missions have done for non-christian nations.)

2 "The Unoccupied Mission Fields of Africa and Asia."

Leaders—Shepard '12 and Hitchcock '14

(A study of the 459,000,000 people in these two continents who are still wholly unreached by Christianity.)

3 "The Challenge of the City."

Leaders—Male '13 and Ennis '14

(A study of the efforts of Christianity on the vital problems of the city in our own country.)

PREPARATIONS FOR THE PROM

C. Harry Anderson, chairman of the Junior Prom Committee announces that the Prom will be held as usual, at the Hotel Ten Eyck, Albany, N. Y. The State Armory at Schenectady was considered as one of the places in which the Prom might be held, but after a thorough investigation the committee decided to hold the dance as usual in Albany. Arrangements are being made to make this one of the most elaborate dances ever held during Junior Week.

A. R. Zita's orchestra will furnish music. An especially attractive program has been arranged for this year. One page is devoted to each dance. The programs will be made in the form of a handsome leather card case with the college seal on the cover. It will make a very pretty memento to be retained in remembrance of this occasion.

The patronesses are as follows:

Apparatus has been installed in the gym under the direction of Dr. McComber, whereby a new game can be played. This game is comparatively recent and is known as "volley ball." The apparatus consists of a net similar to a tennis net, stretched across the gym, about six feet above the floor. It is played with a pneumatic ball, about half the size of a basketball. There are eight or ten men on a side and the object is to keep the ball from the floor and push it up over the net when possible.

COULTER WINS ENGLISH PRIZE

The Van Orden Prize for English was awarded to Donald A. Coulter '15, at the college meeting on Monday. This prize was established last year for freshmen and was to be awarded for excellence in the work done in the first year English courses and in a special essay.

Because of the late date of its establishment the class of 1915 had been unable to contend for it, therefore, they were given the opportunity last fall.

The prize was established by W. T. Van Orden in memory of his uncle, who was graduated from Union in the class of 1839. It consists of $50 and is sufficiently endowed for the future. The judges were: Dr. March, Dr. Stewart and Mr. Hastings.

COACHES DAWSON AND WEIKLE BUSY DURING THE HOLIDAYS

OTHERS ALSO

On the 21st of December, Coach Dawson and Miss Anna Fisher of New York were married at Providence, R. I. Miss Fisher is the sister of Head Coach Fisher of Columbia University, one of Coach Dawson's personal friends.

Mr. Dawson returned to Schenectady Tuesday, January 7, and began at once to coach the basketball team, getting them into shape for the Rochester game.

On Monday, December 23, Coach Charles B. Weikle and Miss Anita Inez Lugar of Halifax, Nova Scotia, were married at the latter's home. They will reside at 96 Eagle street, Troy, N. Y. Mr. Weikle coaches the Glee Club and has brought the club into good shape during his term of coaching.

The engagement of Robert B. Shepard '11, and Miss Janet M. Schoolcraft of Schenectady, was announced by Miss Schoolcraft on Friday, January 3.

The engagement of Raymond Ransom Micks '11 to Miss Emma Louise Hoffman, was announced on Monday, January 6. Miss Hoffman is the daughter of Prof. Hoffman, head of the Philosophy department.

Report has it that Finley, '13 and Hutchens, '13, are among the happy number but nothing definite can be ascertained at present. G. Clark, '13, whose engagement was announced last year was married on August 30, 1912, to Miss Helen Everhart of Schenectady.

UNION ANTHEM

(Accepted contribution for literary contest)

Not in stones or gloomy towers,
 Rise our monuments of fame.
 Not in marble chambered bowers,
 Lie our sons of deathless name.

Not in cryptic legends hoary,
 Comes our past from ages old;
 Yet there lingers here a glory,
 Which defieth mortal mold.

Ensemble

Union's glory never ending,
 Let our anthem ever swell;
 Glory that is all transcending,
 Shall our voices ever tell.

Oh the glory of old Union,
 That still haunts this sacred ground,
 As we seek her sweet communion
 Let her praises grandly sound.

Though these walls be torn asunder,
 Though these voices ring no more;
 Still will come like dying thunder,
 Echoes from the days of yore.

Ensemble.

Wars may stain her very portals,
 Death make mute her clanging bells,
 Stars may change the fate of mortals,
 Yet her glory deeper wells.

T'is her glory that for euer,
 Will outlive her oldest son;
 Till old Time the strings shall sever,
 When the world its course has run.

Ensemble.

Union's glory never ending,
 Let our anthem ever swell;
 Glory that is all transcending,
 Shall our voices ever tell.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The play selected by the Dramatic Club for this season is "The Snowball." About 25 men are trying out for the club. Rehearsals will be continued on Monday and Wednesday evenings. The first performance is to be given February 12 and will take place out of town, probably at Saratoga, Amsterdam or Gloversville. Arrangements are being made to give the play in Poughkeepsie, Elmira, Oneida and Northampton. The date for Schenectady is the latter part of February, probably the 25th or 26th.

Y. M. C. A. DEPUTATION

A deputation consisting of Shepard '12, Hutchens '13, Ennis '14, Hitchcock '14, Gunning '16, under the leadership of Ralph B. Colson, State Student Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., went to Tannersville in the Catskill Mts., for four days, December 26-29, during the Christmas holidays.

The object of trip was the same as that of the deputation which went to Margarettsville and Stamford last year, namely to get as many young men and boys of the town as possible to come out for straight-forward christian lives.

Basketball games and calling in the homes served to bring the team into close touch with the people of the town. Meetings were held each night at which "the college fellows" spoke briefly on such subjects as "In His Steps," "Brotherhood," "What Christ Means to Me," etc.

Sunday morning the fellows took part in the services of the different churches and in the evening a union meeting concluded the work of the team.

Hobart; "Protective Apparatus," by Prof. E. E. (T) Creighton; "High Voltage Phenomena," by F. W. Peek, Jr.
