Rev. Putnam Cady, '85 Honored.

The Reverend Putnam Cady, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church of Amsterdam, has been elected a fellow of the Royal Geographical society of England, and is now entitled to write the distinguished initials, F. R. G. S., after his name. There are not more than half a dozen Americans who have received this honor.

This distinction has been bestowed upon the Rev. Mr. Cady in recognition of his discoveries in the exploration of Moab, on the eastern side of the Dead Sea. In 1898 Mr. Cady, accompanied only by two Arabs, transported a small skiff from Jerusalem down to the Dead Sea, launched the boat there and went down the east coast of the sea, that side being almost unknown to scientific observers, and photographs having never been taken of it. The mountains of Moab rise from the water's edge, making landing extremely difficult. The depression of the sea basin, 1,300 feet below the level of the Mediterranean makes the atmosphere most oppressive, but in spite of these obstacles Mr. Cady kept on with his work, making careful explorations on the coast and some distance inland, obtaining many photographic views of great value, and finally taking his boat up the Arnon river, a tributary which empties into the east side of the Dead Sea, some twenty miles south of the mouth of the Jordan.

The only other boat expedition of any importance made on the Dead Sea, before that of Mr. Cady, was the one of Lynch, in 1847, but in that trip no photographs were taken. The Lynch party made no attempt to go up the Arnon river, Mr. Cady being the first explorer to do so.

The results of this exploration by Mr. Cady have been of great value to Orientalists and Biblical scholars, facts never before known being presented with the precision which only the trained observer can bring to the task. A lecture on his discoveries was delivered last year by Mr. Cady before the American Geographical society and it was considered of such undoubted value that it was printed in full in the magazine which contains the transactions of the society.

There is an English society known as the Palestine Exploration Fund. Its patron is King Edward; its president, the archbishop of Canterbury. The chairman of the executive committee is Major Gen. Sir Charles Wilson, famous for his exact surveys of Jerusalem and Mount Sinai. The work of Mr. Cady excited the admiring interest of Sir Charles, who is a member of the Royal Geographical society, and a correspondence between the two ensued.

Last month Mr. Cady received the following letter:

Palestine Exploration Fund,
38 Conduit Street,
London, W.,
March 13, 1905.

My Dear Sir:—It has given me much pleasure to propose you for election to the Royal Geographical society, and Major Darwin, a son of the late Prof Darwin, has signed your paper. You will be elected in due course, which means toward the end of this month or early in the next. Your election will be notified to you soon after it has taken place. I am

Very truly yours,
C. W. WILSON.

Vesper Service.

On Sunday, April 16th, Dr. Hoffman gave the last of his talks on "Mediaeval and Present Day Conceptions of God." Dr. Hoffman spoke as follows: "One of the chief differences between the mediaeval conception of God and that of today concerns the sources of the data out of which it is to be formed. In mediaeval times it was held that all of our knowledge of God came through a supernatural revelation. The position was that he revealed his existence and attributes to the fathers of the Jewish people and they transmitted this knowledge to us. The view of today is that we get our ideas of God also from what we know about this universe and what we know about ourselves.

From our study of the universe we have learned that everything in it proceeds from one and the same Infinite and Eternal Energy and that everything is permeated and sustained in existence by this Energy. God is related to the universe as we are to our bodies. That is to say, God and the world are so related that we may truly assert that we have no way of thinking about this relation except by affirming that "God is no more without a world than a world is without God."

"Probably no writer has more clearly and concisely expressed this result of recent reflection upon this matter than Herbert Spencer, "Amid the mysteries," he says "which become the more mysterious the more they are thought about, there will remain this one absolute certainty, that we are ever in the presence of an Infinite Eternal Energy, from which all things proceed." God is All in All. God is therefore wrongly thought of as a Great First Cause. He is not the first in a series of causes. He is not the originator of secondary causes but is the one only cause. Gravity, heat, light, electricity and the like are not real causes but simply modes or ways in which God acts. All the acts of nature are the acts of God. There is no real difference between the natural and supernatural. God is all in all. This is Jesus' view when he says, "Consider the lilies of the field how they grow," and "Behold the fowls of the air."

"We ought not to think of God as in any sense afar off. He is present every moment in every object that surrounds us, in every pebble, every leaf, and every flower. He is nearer to us than our own bodies. It is literally true as Tennyson says, "Closer is He than breathing, nearer than hands or feet."

"From the study of the history of both nature and man we learn that this Infinite Eternal Energy is a power that makes for righteousness. All history is a development of life. It tells us how from the humblest and most insignificant beginnings there are ever developing higher and higher forms of life. There is progress in the world and all history shows it to us. The microscopic germ grows and multiplies until the human organism results and this human organism is made the vehicle for the development of saints.

"A rational plan is being realized and we can see it with ever increasing clearness. The world is more and more being governed in accordance with the principles of truth and right and God is bringing it about. From the study of ourselves we discover that this Eternal Energy making for righteousness knows and feels and wills. This we learn from the fact that we know and feel and will ourselves. Our idea of God must be adequate to account for all that is. We are personal beings; hence God is the Infinite Person.

"The highest form under which our personality manifests itself is that of a father. God is our Father. The Father of all mankind. This truth Jesus rightly makes the central truth of all his teaching. The emphasis he puts upon it is one of the principal proofs of his divine mission.

Christian Association.

VESPER SERVICE: Physical Development a Christian Duty—By Dr. Towne.

TUESDAY EVENING: Northfield Meeting—M. T. Raymond, '05, leader.

The Association wants especially to thank the Faculty for their assistance in adding new books to the library. Their help has made it possible to obtain a very complete list of reference works in Bible study, which will materially improve this line of work next year.

Union in the Mission Field.

At the regular meeting last Tuesday the lives of several of Union's missionaries were reviewed. Some time we forget how important a part Old Union has played in the world's history. Japan owes her educational system to one of our graduates and many of America's foremost missionaries have received their education here. One of the first was G. B. Whiting who was born at Canaan, N. Y., 1801. He graduated from Union in 1824, taught one year and then attended Princeton Theological Seminary. He sailed in 1830 as a missionary to Syria where he worked for 25 years with the exception of brief visits to Constantinople and Switzerland for his health. In 1834 he was transferred from Beirut to Jerusalem where he spent 9 years. He returned to Beirut and labored there till he died of cholera in 1856.

The class of 1847 graduated two that were the leaders in their respective fields, Gulian Lansing in Egypt and John Livingston Nevius in China. John Nevius was born in 1829. At the age of 16 he entered Union as a sophomore, coming from his home in Seneca Co., in a canal boat. In the autumn of 1849 he left his home to seek his fortune in the South and was not at this time a confessing Christian. At his parting his mother said to him, "John, if you were going away to be a missionary to the heathen, that I could bear, but this I cannot." Soon, however, he recognized the claims of Christianity upon him and became a fervent member of the Presbyterian church. After teaching school in the South for awhile and graduating from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1854 he married and started at once for Ningpoo, China. He possessed a strong body, powerful mind and earnest spirit, and worked steadfastly till his death in 1893.

Gulian Lansing is of special interest to us as he was a convert from the church of which President Raymond's father was pastor. All churches recognized Lansing as the leading missionary of his day in Egypt and his scholarly ability and knowledge of Arabia gained him the respect of the Mohammedans among whom he labored for forty years.

Union today is well represented in the mission field and the example of these older men has not been lost. This year the Association collected $15 which was sent to Harrison K. Wright in China. Such support given to our own alumni helps the Association's life and makes it stand more truly for the Union spirit. Next year when Chairman Lewis comes around let us all help him double the amount.

TO HONOR AUDUBON.

Commemoration in New York May 4.

Arrangements have been made for the commemoration of the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the birth of the great ornithologist, John James Audubon, on the evening of May 4, at the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Intercession, at Broadway and One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Street, New York City, which overlooks what was formerly known as Audubon Park, the name given to that part nearest the Hudson of the tract of thirty-two acres once owned by Audubon.

The Rev. Milo Hudson Gates, rector of the Intercession, has appointed a committee to co-operate with him as Chairman. It is composed of Edmund S. Whitman, one of the Church Wardens; Miss M. E. Audubon, granddaughter of the naturalist; George Bird Grinnell, editor of Forest and Stream; George F. Parker, and John P. Leo.

Among those who will participate as speakers are ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, Richard Watson Gilder, Ernest Thompson-Seton, the Right Rev. David H. Greer, Prof. Frank M. Chapman, President of the Audubon Societies, and George F. Parker, formerly United States Consul in Birmingham.

Audubon was the first great naturalist of this country. He covered North America thoroughly classifying the birds and painting each one. In the college library we have four massive volumes of Audubon's colored plates of birds and two volumes of quadrupeds. We have also five large volumes of description. These books are exceedingly rare, only a few copies being extant. It is estimated that the books of birds alone would bring two thousand dollars.

Amherst has decided to have no freshman baseball team this year.

THE NEW SONG BOOK.

Edited by Byron W. Reed, '06.

After usual weeks of waiting and delay, the new college song book, entitled, "Songs of Union College," is ready for the public, and is on sale at Robson & Adees. The book is attractively covered, with a fine cut of Nott Memorial Hall on the outside. It contains all of the songs which belong especially to Union, both the words and music, harmonized for male voices, including three new ones. This collection is something which fills a long felt need and merits a wide circulation. It has been the aim of the editor to put these songs into such form that every undergraduate can possess them, and for that reason they are bound serviceably, but not expensively and the price is but half a dollar.

The editor has undertaken this task with the full conviction that Union has as fine a collection of songs as any college in the country, and that many of them deserve a much wider popularity than they have at present.

The volume is dedicated to the class of Nineteen Hundred and six.

ALUMNI.

'37.—"The oldest employe in the Treasury Department and probably in the entire government service celebrated his 94th birthday anniversary on the 19th of the present month. He is a New York man, William W. Dean, by name, and he has been working for nearly half a century in the internal revenue bureau of the Treasury Department.

Mr. Dean was a preacher back in the Civil War days. He was in Washington at the close of that conflict and took up the work of sending wounded soldiers to their homes. In carrying out this charitable labor, Mr. Dean's sympathies frequently caused him to spend more of his private income than he could well afford. He concluded to seek employment under the government as a means of supplementing his income. William P. Fessenden, Secretary of the Treasury, appointed Mr.

Dean in 1865, to a place in the Internal Revenue Bureau and he has been there ever since. Although a monogenerian Mr. Dean is in remarkably good health. He is in full possession of all his faculties, a very slight deafness being the only evidence of his advanced age. He is still counted an excellent clerk, and is engaged in passing on accounts of collectors.

Mr. Dean takes particular pride in maintaining a record for punctuality and attendance that would do credit to much younger clerks. He has gone ten years at a stretch without losing a single day on account of sickness. The severest blizzard cannot keep him at home, and no matter how high the mercury runs Mr. Dean is at his desk promptly at 9 o'clock. During the past year Mr. Dean was sick with the grip and lost two days from the office. It was the first time this had occurred for years and he was badly broken up over the marring of his record.—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

'80.—Edward B. Noble is a civil engineer at 21 Bradford St., Albany.

* * * *

'85.—Rev. Putnam Cady, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church of Amsterdam, has been informed of his election into the Royal Geographical Society of England. The honor is bestowed in recognition of the value of Mr. Cady's explorations in Palestine, especially those on the east coast of the Dead Sea.

'99.—F. R. Champion, '99, managing Editor of the Schenectady Union, has been appointed as the first incumbent of the recently established office of Commissioner of Jurors of Schenectady County. The term is five years.

Reunion of Michigan Alumni.

Wednesday evening, April 12 a dinner and reception were given by the Michigan Alumni in honor of President Raymond at the home of William J. Keep of Detroit. The reunion was most enjoyable, the older and younger graduates exchanging stories until late into the night.

There are seventeen graduates of Union in Detroit and twenty-two throughout other parts of Michigan. Among those present at the reunion were: Hon. Charles Lawton, Regent of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Thomas S. Murdock, Northville; F. J. Hoag, Toledo, Ohio, and Jasper C. Gates, Elliott T. Slocum, Rev. W. A. Maxon, Rev. Clarence Buell, James C. Miller, Wm. A. Waldron, John Ickler and C. C. Wormer, Jr., Detroit.

Michigan's oldest alumnus is Elisha Taylor of the class of '37. President Raymond called on Mr. Taylor while in Detroit and also delivered an address to the students of the Detroit University School.

Saturday Recitations.

It has been officially announced that Union is to hold recitations on Saturday morning next year. Wednesday afternoon will be given as a half holiday to make up for the time lost on Saturday.

This is by no means a new idea here, but has been under consideration by the Faculty and trustees for several years. They have felt all along that it was the only possible means of relieving the pressure on the other days of the week especially for the engineers. It is some little consolation to those who will experience this change, that chapel will begin much later on Saturday morning than on the other mornings of the week, thus leaving to the students the freedom of Friday evening. The trustees were also encouraged in their desire to make a change by the fact that this system has proved very successful in the large majority of colleges.

AVE ATQUE VALE.

Tis hail to the new Board as we say farewell. May 1906 find the same cordial support and kindly appreciation that have sustained the old Board and for which it is duly grateful. It isn't the make of the mill but the grist that is the important thing. May it never fail. Bring fine wheat to the mill and you will eat good bread. Make the "Concordy" a weekly feast. Let each one bring his best, that is, what he really thinks on any subject. If you have a good thought, share it; if you see a good thing, tell it.

Make the paper a mirror in which the fellows can see themselves. It is a novel sensation for a fellow to see himself in his article. It is worth while; try it. College demands something besides good class room work. It demands good athletics, good speaking, and also good writing that will make the college paper an exponent of the best in college life.

Again, hail to the new Board!

At a meeting of the Senior Board of Editors held on Wednesday evening in Silliman Hall Daniel F. Imrie, '06 was unanimously elected Editor-in-Chief for the coming year. The other elections were Business Manager, Floyd L. Miller; Literary Editor, Warner King; Athletic Editor, Philip L. Classen; News Editor, Byron W. Reed. The associate editors will be Earl C. Bradbeer, M. H. Elliott, N. V. V. Franchot, 2nd; W. T. McIntosh, L. S. Parsons and A. H. White of the class of 1907. The reportorial staff will consist of B. W. Collins, L. S. Hoffman, C. H. Powell, A. V. V. Raymond, Jr., E. Van Olinda, and M. S. Watson of the class of 1908. For the one position of reporter still open, any member of 1908 can compete. The new Board will begin its duties with the next issue. An assistant business manager will be elected by the Sophomore class some time this term.

The cheering at the game last Saturday was not as it should be. A few fellows only were bunched together and yelled feebly. The other students that attended the game were scattered, paying no heed to the cheering. It goes without saying that such support was discouraging to the players. Let us either have good cheering or none at all. To have it count for something the student body must all be together. With the new bleachers this can be easily effected provided the cheer leaders take pains to reserve three or four sections for the use of the students only. Next Saturday Hamilton comes to play us on the campus and the game will be one of the hardest and most important of the season. If we are to repeat the victory of last year it means that every one must do his part. How can we expect to have confidence in the players if they in turn are not made to feel the support of the college behind them!

It is with pleasure that we note the publication of a college song book. It is something long desired and is warmly welcomed. We appreciate the labor and time that have been expended upon this undertaking and in behalf of all sons of Union gratefully thank the Editor.

1905 Class Song.

I.

We're gathered once more, as often of yore
To sing Union's praise with a will;
And though we must part, we're not without heart,

Her mem'ry will rest with us still.

Our last farewell to Thee;

Terrace and Old Elm Tree,

We give you our toast—"Our pride and our boast,
Old Union"—Here's to Thee!

II.

Since we came to town we've won some renown
The Profs and the Tutes will agree,

In chapel and scraps, and class-room perhaps;
And there's some of us left as you see.

And now that our last tax is paid

The hatchet to rest has been laid

As we give you our toast—"Our pride and our boast,

Old Union"—Here's to Thee!

III.

The garden, the brook, and every fond nook

So dear and familiar to all

The idol of war we've all knelt before

Are mem'ries we'll ever recall.

With love eternal and true

We'll strive to do honor to you

Rememb'ring our toast—"Our pride and our
boast,

Old Union"—Here's to Thee!

IV.

And may Nineteen Five the glory derive

That blest Union's sons of old.

To Union's proud name we're bound to bring fame

For we leave her with hearts firm and bold.

Thou campus, ye walls of gray,

Our tribute at parting we pay,

As we sing you our toast—"Our pride and our
boast,

Old Union"—Here's to Thee!

V.

We hope, Nineteen Five, that you will survive

The years that will pass 'ere we know

And gather again to sing this refrain,

And our tribute to Union bestow.

We will come back to Thee;

Terrace and Old Elm Tree,

To give you our toast—"Our pride and our boast,
Old Union"—Here's to Thee!

E. T. King, '05.

College Briefs.

The following action has been taken by the Faculty in regard to those students who, under the rules, are ineligible for membership on the Varsity teams. "Voted, that any team other than class teams, a majority of whose members are Union college students, should be subject to the rules as to eligibility in playing outside teams, but the committee on athletics is authorized to use its discretion in arranging games with the Schenectady High School." Under the last clause of the resolution regarding proposed games with the Schenectady High School, the athletic committee holds that for these games all students are eligible.

BASE BALL.

Wesleyan at Middletown Today.

The baseball team left yesterday at 2:35 for Middletown where they play Wesleyan this afternoon. The R. P. I. game showed pretty well the weak places on the team and consequently there has been a decided shake-up in the infield. Many combinations have been tried during the week looking for better results and several positions are as yet by no means settled. The team will line-up today as follows: Hildreth p., Rider 1b., Hagar c. f., Diver 3b., Colburn 2b., Jewell r. f., Mulrooney l. f., Vogt c., Davis s.s. Substitutes, Harvey and Richards.

The Williams Game.

On Saturday, April 15, the Garnet nine was defeated by the strong Williams College team by a score of 11 to 3.

The game was loose throughout and Union was particularly weak in fielding.

Vogt, at short, was unfortunate, accepting but two of the seven chances tendered him. Rider at first and Diver at third each made two errors which proved costly.

The second inning was a bad one for Hildreth, who gave three bases on balls, struck a man with a pitched ball and allowed three hits. This combined with very poor support netted Williams six runs. After that, Hildreth settled down and pitched a masterly game.

The batting of the Union team was good. Hagar and Rider each made two pretty singles and Diver hit the ball to deep center for a home run, which was the feature of the game. The score follows:

Union Defeats R. P. I.

On the 22d Union defeated R. P. I. by a score of 11 to 10. The deciding run was made in the last half of the ninth inning. The game was very poorly played as the score will show. Our team was nervous at first and the infield especially did not seem to get into the game. The R. P. I. men showed a lack of practice for their playing was ragged throughout. Hildreth was substituted for Davis in the box in the seventh inning. Harvey had to retire on account of an injured finger and Vogt took his place. Dwight took Vogt's place at short.

Literary Notes.

The Times Review in an editorial notice of Dr. Hale's new book, "Dramatists of Today" says that it emphasizes the painful fact that when Americans want to write serious books about dramatic art they must still go to Europe for their subjects.

"Mr. Hale writes well with abundant knowledge, of his subject derived from study at first hand." From another notice—"Dr. Hale's style is very clear and agreeable and the fact that he has regularly contributed papers on these dramatists to the "Dial" is an indication of his ability."
