Union Defeats Rutgers.

Union established a new and brilliant record on Saturday in the defeat of Rutgers by a score of 10 to 0. The day was an ideal one for football and the pleasant weather was responsible for the appearance of many a dainty costume ornamented with the garnet of Union.

The students of Union visited Albany "en masse" and the well known Hika of victory as it rose from a hundred throats gladdened the hearts of the many old alumni who had found back seats on the grand stand.

From one of the upper tiers of the grand stand Judge D. Cady Herrick watched with interest Union's gains through Rutgers' line. Not far off was seated General Amasa J. Parker and Ex-Mayor Manning of Albany. Prof. Robinson and Prof. Hailes of the Albany High School, Professors Buck, Mosher, Opdyke, Russell Greenman and many other loyal friends of Old Union were there.

It was a few minutes after three when the Rutgers team trotted out on the field and began the preliminary practice. In a few minutes Union followed and received great applause.

It was easy to judge of the size of the two college teams during this preliminary practice. The Rutgers team was heavier, but they lacked the snap and activity that was at once shown by the wearers of the garnet, and which during the whole game characterized the team work and individual plays of the Union men.

Every Union man played a fast game, and all are to be congratulated on the brilliant way the team showed up.

On the opening of the game Union guarded the south goal. Hadow put the ball in play for Rutgers. Smith dropped on the ball on the 30-yard line. Five yards were gained when Thomas was sent through the line for an equal distance. Crichton and Palmer made large gains then Griswold carried the ball ahead for five yards. Crichton then discovered a hole in the center of the Rutgers line and dodged past the players for a gain of ten yards. Griswold went around Rutgers end. Palmer then carried the ball dangerously near the Rutgers line. Here Rutgers called time. After a breathing spell the teams resumed playing and Griswold was pushed around the left tackle and over Rutgers' line for a touchdown. At this point the referee was slow in announcing Union's touchdown and the ball was removed before he noticed the place where the touchdown had been made. No position could then be obtained from which a goal could be kicked, and a decision of no goal was rendered.

Rutgers kicked off and sent the ball to the side lines on each attempt. This gave the kick off to Union. The feature of the game during the remainder of the half was Palmer's tackling. Union's captain did great work here, and twice individually, prevented Rutgers from making long runs. Union advanced the ball to within ten yards of the New Jersey player's goal, every man was playing fast and a touchdown seemed assured for Union when timekeeper Parrott of Rutgers called time. His time was one minute ahead of timekeeper Vrooman's, Union '98. In order to avoid dispute the faster time was allowed. The score at the end of the half stood, Union 4, Rutgers 0.

At the opening of the second half Hoxie sent the ball to Rutgers' five yard line. Hadow caught the ball and returned it twelve yards. Mason and Ryno did some fast playing for Rutgers and with the aid of the umpire's decision for off-side play, Rutgers worked the ball down to the center of the field. Union then obtained the ball on a fumble by Rutgers. Griswold was then played around the right end for gains of five and ten yards. The ball was advanced to the fifteen yard line by a series of fast plays and brilliant team work. Here the ball was given to Rutgers for alleged off-side play. Drury then made a ten yard gain for Rutgers. After another gain of five yards the Rutgers men appeared exhausted and lost the ball on four downs. Union carried the ball by a series of plays about the center and around the ends to within a few inches of Rutgers line. Crichton made a touchdown and Hoxie kicked goal. Union again carried the ball to within a few yards of Rutgers goal. Rutgers won the ball on downs and kicked to the centre of the field. The ball was then passed to Hoxie who attempted to regain the lost ground by a punted ball. The ball was held by Union on the 40-yard line when time was called.

Campaign Issues.

Following the chapel exercises Friday morning, Nov. 6, Dr. Raymond gave an interesting talk on the issues of the recent campaign.

He said that the great question of the campaign was not silver. The attack upon the Supreme Court of the United States, the raising of sectional and class strife, and the questions concerning civil service were of greater moment.

The Supreme Court is the great bulwark of American liberty and it must not be made the tool of the dominant party. Civil service is one of the most important advances in modern civilization.

The strife between state and nation was settled long ago and any attempt to revive it is certain to result disastrously. Sectional and class strife is equivalent to putting the ax at the root of our national life, for a house divided against itself can not stand.

He closed his interesting remarks with an appeal to Union College students that they might always be supporters of truth, honor and justice in the politics of our Republic.

Medical College Notes.

The members of the Junior class have elected the following officers: President, Emmott Howd, Schenectady, N. Y.; Vice-President, Rollin A. Kilpatrick, Troy; Secretary, Edward Stevens, Brooklyn; Treasurer, Chas. G. McMullen, Schenectady; Senior Marshal, Geo. B. Stanwix, Albany; Junior Marshal, Gilbert W. Crissey, Troy.

The Seniors enjoyed a banquet tendered them by their officers, on the 28th of last month. Chas. H. Richardson, of San Francisco, Cal., presided as toastmaster, and many excellent toasts were responded to.

The officers for the Freshman class follow: President, Rupert W. Ford, Mt. Upton, N. Y.; Vice-President, Robert Kinloch, Troy; Secretary, George S. Post, Fulton; Treasurer, Clayton Shaw, Hoosick Falls; Marshals, Frederick Smart, Rossie; W. G. Mack, Wolcott, N. Y.

Seniors vs. Freshmen.

The Seniors were matched against the Freshmen in a game of foot ball on the campus Tuesday afternoon. The upper class men won by a score of 4 to 0. The game was called at 3 o'clock. The ball was put in play by the Seniors, who after three minutes fast playing sent Cooper over the line for a touchdown. No goal. Score, Seniors 4, Freshmen 0.

In the second half the Freshmen advanced the ball to within 10 yards of '97's goal. The ball was lost on a fumble and a series of end runs and plays through the line by '97's men returned the ball to within a few yards of 1900's goal. The Seniors then fumbled the ball, and it rolled over the line where Walbridge fell on it for a touchback. At this point time was called, in order to clear the field for 'varsity practice.

A New Athletic Field.

The Schenectady Alumni Association held an important meeting in the law office of Edwin C. Angle, Friday evening, Nov. 6.

A resolution was adopted providing for the construction of an enclosed athletic field with a grand stand and other modern improvements. Such a field would cost between $1500 and $2000, and it is believed that it would stimulate athletics, increase local interest in them and thus do away with the annual financial deficit.

It is proposed to use the field back of Prof. T. W. Wright's residence between Union Avenue and the College Grove.

Horatio G. Glen and Frank Cooper were appointed members of a central committee of five with power to appoint the remaining members. Hon. Everett Smith was made treasurer of the committee. Sub-committees will be appointed from each class from 1875 to 1895, and each class will be asked to contribute at least $50 toward the fund.

IT IS not necessary for us to enter into a detailed criticism of the Union-Rutgers foot ball game. The victory belongs to the Union players by right of their superior merit. The result shows what may be accomplished by hard and persistent effort. The victory under the depressing influences which accompanied the formation of a team this season, is sufficient cause for jollification. Now that Union's luck has turned, let the good work go on.

SOME time ago it was rumored that there was a project on foot to construct a new athletic field. Nothing definite was done in this matter, however, until a few days ago. A meeting of the local alumni was called and the project was laid before them. An account of this meeting appears elsewhere in this paper. The promoter or promoters of this project could not have hit upon a more feasible plan for stimulating the athletic spirit which exists in college today. There are many reasons why Union should have a well constructed and properly equipped athletic field. We understand that one of the principle reasons advanced for furthering the project was the assumption that a fair amount of revenue could be obtained if there were suitable accommodations for the students and the general public, who without doubt would patronize the games and other athletic sports. Aside from this consideration, which is indeed an important one, is the fact, that any movement on the part of the alumni in this direction would result in an immediate response on the part of the students. A greater and more earnest manifestation of college spirit, which is the necessary accompaniment of successful athletic contests, would be the inevitable result.

Editor of The Concordiensis:—

Letter writing is evidently all the vogue and criticism is the order of the day. But I wish, with your permission to use valuable space, to criticise a critic, the "student" who wrote last week of "Union's Orators." Surely enough, we lack concentration in the oratorical sphere, but what has that to do with the fact that many believe our "prize debating has degenerated into a lottery?" I wager the majority of the "many" are those who have not had sufficient manliness to stand defeat. And what is this "experience" that "proves that when the fraternities flourish the literary societies die, and the converse must follow as a necessary corollary?" Surely, Mr. Editor, not the experience taught by history, nor yet, pardon me, by common sense. And I may observe further, that while it may not be consistent with "the dignity of Old Union to allow prep-school undergraduates to criticise our commencement orators," prep-school undergraduates shall continue forever, as in the past, to criticise the alumni of prep-schools, just as college undergraduates shall continue forever, I suppose, to criticise the alumni of our colleges—however unworthily in either case.

In closing, I would say, that my intention has been, not to slight the ideas advanced by the "student," but rather to criticise criticism. In short, when a man has been dreadfully sick for a number of years and is rapidly convalescing, don't continue to pour rank physic down his throat. Take him out for a ride now and then; pat him gently on the back; smile upon him and speak pleasant words. A STUDENT TOO.

"The sick man" mentioned in the above letter, we are glad to be informed, "is rapidly convalescing." His treatment has been most elaborate; comprising, as it has, almost everything from amputation to massage. And now a new physician appears with recommendations for the patient's health that cannot but meet with the approval of every well-disposed student in college. Much indeed needs yet to be accomplished in this renaissance through which the college is passing, but every suggestion need not be adorned by a rosette of growls.

THE library question has been under discussion both by students and faculty for some time. The agitation has not been without its results. The faculty are well aware of the necessity of some kind of a revision and have been assiduously laboring to solve a vexed question. They appreciate the insufficiencies of the present system and hope to hit upon some plan which will permit of the desired liberality and at the same time do away with the abuses which have not as yet altogether disappeared.

Before anything effectual can be done, however, along the lines of revision, the individual student must become a party to aid in furthering any plan which it may be thought advisable to adopt. Unless the individual student becomes fully cognizant of the needs of the institution in this particular and labors assiduously to rectify the evils which are purely student evils, any plan, no matter what are its essential characteristics, will fail when in practical operation.

A committee, composed of students, has been appointed to confer with the faculty library committee. It was thought that a union between students and faculty in the consideration of this matter would be advisable and might result in an earlier and more satisfactory revision of the present library system.

THE CONCORDIENSIS wishes to impress upon the mind of the student that all consideration of this matter has in sense been relegated to the committee. It is the duty of each and every one of us to work together for the common good.

The Debating Societies.

The question for debate of the Adelphic society this week is:

Resolved, "That an income tax is in itself a mode of raising a revenue well in accord with Republican ideas."

The affirmative side of the question will be supported by Mattison, '98, Cullen, '98 and Nelson, '98. Negative by Hotaling, '97, Swann, '98 and Putnam, '98.

The Philomatheans will meet in their rooms S. S. S. C., this week to decide whether "the Sultan of Turkey is, altogether responsible for the past year's blood shed in Turkey." Hewitt, '97 and Griffith, '98, on the affirmative, Hover, '98 and Wood, 1900, negative.

The Freshman class have adopted a new yell which is quite a success. It is as follows: 1900, optimum. Finis centum annorum. Union.

While the Union-Rutgers game was going on at Albany, Saturday afternoon, a good game was in progress on the campus, between the Christian Brothers Academy of Albany, and the Union Classical Institute of this city. After a hard fought game the U. C. I. boys came out ahead, making one touchdown and a goal to their opponents touchdown without a goal.
