UNION PLAYS WINNING BALL AGAINST NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

And Scores Seven Runs to N. Y. U.'s Six—Fairbairn and Shaw Feature.

The game with New York University was a very pleasant disappointment to the students, especially as there have been doubts in the minds of even the most optimistic as to the result of the first game, which came before the nine had a single outdoor practice. It was gloomy outlook Thursday night when the team left Schenectady without its captain. The usually stringent faculty rules gave way in the extremity and it was voted to allow the team to start the trip twenty-four hours earlier in order that it might be possible for the players to get its first outdoor practice.

When the two nines lined up on the Ohio field Saturday afternoon the little crowd of Union rooters, which though small nearly equalled the N. Y. U. supporters, had many misgivings as to the outcome, though their cheering did not in the least betray their feelings. The New York team had played several games this season and was in shape to play its best ball.

Alpert started the game in the box for Union and in the seven innings that he twirled allowed the New Yorkers but three hits. Owing to an accident in sliding to base in the seventh inning he had to retire from the game and Dan O'Keefe took his place. Nauman was then placed at center field. Dan showed himself to be in excellent condition and ended the game without allowing his opponents another hit. Fairbairn and Shaw played the best quality of ball for Union.

The line-up and summary of the game follows:

CHANGES IN TERRACE COUNCIL.

Yesterday morning at college meeting it was announced that the Terrace Council would in the future be composed of seven members. Four of this number will be chosen by the retiring Council and three will be elected by the senior class from which body the men will be chosen. The president of the senior class shall always be a member of the Council and if he is chosen by the retiring Council there will be three other members from the class to be elected.

Vernon Travis, president of the class of 1911, has been elected to the present Council.

GOLD FOBS FOR MUSICAL CLUBS.

In college meeting yesterday it was voted to award gold watch fobs to members of the musical clubs who have served at least three years in any one of the organizations.

GARNET TO BE PUT ON SALE
THE FIRST OF MAY OR BEFORE.

More Than Three Hundred and Fifty Illustrations to Fill the Pages—Albany Departments Not Included This Year.

More than one-half of the 1912 Garnet has already been printed and the remainder will be run off during the Easter recess. Immediately after the vacation, the work of binding will be commenced and the book will be on sale before the first of May. This is nearly a month behind the time scheduled for its appearance, but many unforeseen circumstances have combined to prevent its earlier publication.

The book will be the most elaborate that Union college students have yet issued. Its three hundred and fifty pages will be illustrated with more than that number of photographs and drawings and a decorative border will be used on each page. For the first time in many years, there will be a colored frontispiece.

Every department of the book has its full page head cut while smaller drawings and photographs of the campus are liberally scattered throughout.

M. E. Untermeyer, '12, is responsible for most of the drawings and his brilliant ideas may be traced through the entire book.

The book itself will be bound in Garnet leather and the cover design will be stamped in gold on the outside cover. The first edition will consist of three hundred copies and more will appear as demanded.

The editors have felt that the Garnet is no longer a university book and with this idea in mind, have omitted much of the Albany copy. Its place will be taken by material which seems better fitted to the Garnet as a distinctly college book. They have felt that this is a change which can work only for the betterment of the Garnet and that it is a step toward having an annual of which we may be justly proud.

FIRST ANNUAL INTER-UPPERCLASS DEBATE WON BY THE JUNIORS.

Both of the upper classes were out in force to witness the first annual interclass debate, which took place in the college chapel Wednesday afternoon. There has been considerable rivalry between the classes in regard to debating each one claiming the better team, and a deep interest was manifest in the interclass debate.

The question was: "Resolved, that woman suffrage should be granted in New York state."

The juniors were ably represented by Peters, Mann and Potter. The seniors by Gordon, Bray and Cavert.

Doctors Hoffmann, Bennett and Hale acted as judges, and rendered a decision in favor of 1912 who upheld the negative side of the question.

PRESIDENT TO HAVE BUSY MONTH.

On Sunday, April 16, Dr. Richmond will preach at the University church at Syracuse. Afterwards he will pay a visit to the university.

On Friday afternoon, April 21, President Richmond will introduce Miss Wooley, president of Holyoke college, who is to give an address at the Schenectady High school to the seniors under the auspices of the College Woman's club.

Friday evening the president will address the Hudson River school masters at Albany.

Monday, April 24, Dr. Richmond will speak at the alumni dinner in Buffalo, and on Thursday, the 27th, he will speak at the alumni dinner in Schenectady.

Saturday, April 29, he will address the meeting of the graduate council.

MRS. WARRING GIVES MANY VOLUMES TO COLLEGE LIBRARY.

The library has received from Mrs. Charles Bartlett Warring, a gift of one hundred and twelve volumes and thirty-six pamphlets in memory of her husband, Charles Bartlett Warring of the class of '45.

The new edition of the Encyclopedia Britanica has been purchased as far as published—fourteen volumes—and the rest will be added as soon as they appear.

New books were purchased for nearly all the departments during February and March.

The museum will be opened Saturday from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and on Wednesday of each week from 2 to 4 p. m.

POTTER ATTENDS CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION CONVENTION

At Amherst Where Seventy-five "Y" Presidents Are Gathered.

The annual convention of newly elected presidents of the college Y. M. C. A.'s was held at Amherst college from the sixth to ninth of April. This is the same convention that was held here last year. President Potter was the Union delegate. There were about seventy-five men in all in attendance. The meetings were addressed by leading men in Y. M. C. A. work. These conventions are intended to give the men who will be in charge of Christian association work next year an insight into the methods of procedure.

Cornell Conference.

During the Easter vacation from the fourteenth to the sixteenth of April, a conference on Bible study work will be held at Cornell university. Among the speakers will be President J. G. Schurman of Cornell, Clayton S. Cooper, Frank C. Myers and Colonel Larned of West Point. Potter, Trumbull and Finley expect to represent Union at this conference.

Treasurer's Report.

Treasurer Webb reports that out of $419.75 pledged to the Y. M. C. A., about $100 remains unpaid. He requests that this be paid as quickly as possible.

Dr. Steinmetz to Speak.

On Friday evening, April 21, Dr. Steinmetz will speak to the fellows at an informal evening in Silliman Hall. His subject is "Student Life in Germany." A "feed" and social time will follow.

SENIOR BANQUET IN ALBANY.

Although arrangements have not been definitely completed, the senior banquet will probably be held in Albany on May 26th. In place of the usual course affair the banquet will probably be a beefsteak dinner with plenty of liquid refreshment. The menu cards are to be covered with a leather binding; the same as that used for the commencement programs.

Alpert of the Albany College of Pharmacy has received an offer to pitch for the Albany State League team.

ALBANY DEPARTMENTS FURNISH EXCELLENT MATERIAL FOR TRACK.

A recent trip to Albany by Captain Travis of the track team has resulted in bringing out some good material. Hull and Dudley of the medical department are now in training for the weight events and several other men are ready to go into training. About twenty-five men are now out and the prospects for a well-balanced team are exceedingly good.

Arrangements for interscholastic day are progressing well. A representative of the Horace Mann school was here recently to find out about the meet. He said that they expect to send a team to compete.

SCHENECTADY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION TO BANQUET AT MOHAWK CLUB.

Invitations have been issued by Dann L. Wood, '97, secretary of the Alumni association of Schenectady, for a dinner to be held in the Mohawk Golf club, Thursday, April 27. President Richmond will be present and William Osborne, who is legal adviser of Governor Dix, will be the guest of honor. After the dinner a business meeting will be held.

The Season In Tennis.

With an exceptionally complete schedule ratified by the Athletic Board the season in tennis gives promise of eclipsing the enviable record made last year in this branch of athletics. Captain-Manager Fairbairn is to be congratulated upon the list of matches arranged for the spring term. The schedule favors the student considerably by including five and possibly other matches on the home courts. The opposing teams include some of the fastest college tennis organizations in the country, notably Wesleyan, Michigan and Syracuse. The game, as an intercollegiate sport, is comparatively new at Union and for that reason, among others, should be well supported by the studentbody. The tennis tax, that was levied upon the students by the action of the student body, is not exorbitant, when the expenses of managing an organization where no admission is charged at the games, is taken into consideration. Every student, who has not yet paid the tax, should, at the earliest opportunity, turn the money over to the manager.

Those College Bells.

Those college bells, those college bells,
Untimely time their tolling tells—

And at times they are not tolled at all. Thereby hangs a tale, which, when told, may perhaps have a telling effect upon the tollers. Such is our aim. On Monday afternoon of last week the failure to ring the bells, or at least the failure to ring them sufficiently long to be heard in a north-central room in Washburn Hall, had a near-disastrous effect upon a little group of toilers and their professor. In brief the case is as follows: The professor narrowly, if not quite, missed reaching a State street structure during banking hours, a toiler all but broke an engagement with the Concordiensis board, and the recitation was prolonged fifteen minutes. This is not the only time that an irregularity has been noted in the ringing of the bells for recitations. Irregularities have occurred frequently—altogether too frequently. Faculty members and students alike are inconvenienced by the carelessness on the part of the bell-ringers, which is entirely avoidable. A system, by which greater punctuality would result, should be devised by the bell-ringers.

Old Union When Young

In the college library are to be found records of Union that date back to the founding of the institution in 1795. Among the catalogs and "laws of the college," as they were called then, there are many curious and amusing rules and customs that will doubtless be of interest to readers of the Concordiensis. When possible space will be given for printing a few of the rules and regulations as they appeared in the old records. Only the most interesting of the paragraphs will be printed. The original style of printing and spelling will be followed as far as our modern type will permit.

The following extracts are taken from "Laws of Union College" published in 1802:

CHAP. I.

Of Admission Into College.

Sec. 2. Candidates for admission shall be examined by the President, or by two, at least, of the other Officers. It shall be the duty of the Officers of the College to attend at the annual examination of candidates, unless necessarily otherwise employed in the business of the College. No one shall be admitted into this College, unless he can with facility and accuracy, read, construe and parse, at least, six books of Virgil's Aeneid, four orations in Cicero, and the four Evangelists in Greek; and shall have learned English Grammar, and Vulgar Arithmetic, and shall exhibit suitable testimonials of his good moral character.

Sec. 12. The price of tuition, for each of the students, shall be twenty dollars per annum, a proportional part (according to the length of each session of business) to be paid in advance to the Treasurer or Steward, at the commencement of the session. In addition to which each student shall pay four dollars a year for room-rent, to be paid as above directed; except those students, who occupy rooms in the fourth story, who shall pay two dollars only.

H. H. Dickinson, '13, is back on the hill again after being confined to his home for some time with German measles.

BASKETBALL SEASON REVIEW

FROM THE PEN OF DR. MAC.

Basketball took a new lease on life in Schenectady this winter owing to the record of the Union College team. The season was closed with a 19-15 score over the fast aggregation from Syracuse University.

The team played an unusually hard schedule from the standpoint of the ability of its opponents and has established a standard of excellence not soon to be surpassed.

The team was fortunate at the start in having four experienced men who had played together for two years, and their strength was augmented by McKinstry of the pharmacy department, who proved by his brilliant work as forward that he had an aptitude for the game. His accurate shooting, wonderful speed and ability to outguess his opponent were marked features of his work.

Coward at guard with his team mate Fairbairn made a wonderfully efficient combination and a more aggressive pair of guards would be hard to find. Coward's experience as a forward had made him a source of continual surprise to his opponents and his unexpected onslaughts on the enemies basket were a strong factor in the scoring.

He has shown ability in shooting fouls, scoring nine out of ten attempts in the second Colgate game in which he alone made more points than the entire Colgate team.

Fairbairn always cool and alert was the most aggressive man on the team and his work at all times was brilliant and consistent.

Hequembourg, although greatly handicapped in weight and strength fitted well into the team play. As the season advanced his accuracy in shooting improved and in addition to being the best dribbler on the team, he has gotten away from his opponent repeatedly for open shots at the goal.

Captain Micks was an all important factor in the development of team play. Tall and seldom outjumped he has consistently contributed to the effectiveness of the combination work, particularly in the Colgate game when repeatedly goals were scored within a very short time after the ball was put in play.

THE ADDISON COLUMN.

After the publication of the correspondence between Mr. Schermerhorn, and myself, which appeared in last week's issue of the Concordiensis, it is hardly necessary to state who I am and what my purpose is. As was stated in my letter I am primarily a critic. However, I do not mean to criticise until I am sure of my ground. This assurance cannot be gained until I have spent some time on the Hill. In the meantime, inasmuch as I have guaranteed a weekly contribution, I must write something—what it is to be I do not know. My sincere hope and trust is that the students of this time honored institution will not expect too much. Remember that, although my name is Addison, it is not Joseph Addison; though I would copy the style of this great man, I am but mediocre. To any student of Union college I cordially extend the invitation to write me and ask whatever he would. I shall endeavor to answer him as best I can and perhaps in this way we may co-operate and do a slight service for a grand old Alma Mater. My first contribution will appear in the next issue of the Concordiensis.

Wood B. Addison.

PRESS CLUB PLANS.

A new plan has been adopted by the Press club, which will be put into use at once. As usual, weekly reports will be sent to many newspapers and particularly to one newspaper in each county of this state. In addition to this, a daily bulletin will be sent to many papers in the east.

During the past week more than fifty special bulletins have been sent out to newspapers in New York state. An extra appropriation has been made by the college to meet the expenses of the Press club for the remainder of the year.

"TOMMY" IS BASKETBALL CAPTAIN.

At the meeting of the basketball "aUa" and "U" men last week, Thomas S. A. Fairbairn, captain-manager of the tennis team, was elected to the captaincy of the basketball team for next season.

NO CONCORDIENSIS NEXT WEEK.

Because of the Easter recess there will be no issue of the Concordiensis next week.

The classes in industrial work have been discontinued for the remainder of the college year. This work will be taken up again next October.

Siegel, '14, and Poindexter, '14, have left college for the remainder of the year.

R. C. Campbell, '12, spent the week-end in a visit to New Brunswick, N. J., and New York.

IN THE SPHERE OF COLLEGES.

Montana has a new $10,000 athletic field.

Wesleyan has dropped hockey from its list of sports.

Both the basketball and hockey teams were awarded "C's" at Cornell this year.

Mrs. E. H. Harriman has recently given $100,000 to the Yale School of Forestry.

Amherst has been presented with funds by Charles M. Pratt, of the class of 1879, for a new dormitory.

The students at Phillips Andover Academy have raised $20,000 for the construction of a new swimming pool.

The engineering students at the University of Minnesota are constructing an elevated railroad three miles long.

A. H. Phillips, a member of the Princeton faculty, has discovered a new mineral which he has named Gageite.

Thirty-nine of last fall's college and university football teams were coached by former players of the University of Chicago.

A course of instruction in life-saving is being offered at Syracuse University. Practical work in the water is given, also demonstrations of the various methods of resuscitation.

As a compliment to the sportsmanlike action of the members of the Yale 1914 relay team, for voluntarily returning the cup which was awarded to Yale on a mere technicality, the Harvard quartet has presented each Yale man with a cup. Each cup was accompanied by a letter complimenting the Yale men on their sportsmanship.

TROY DINNER.

On April 4th, eighteen of our alumni gathered at the Troy club for the annual dinner of the Troy association. Dr. Richmond was the chief speaker and described the year's progress at Union. Before the dinner an election of officers for the ensuing year was held at which time Seymour Van Santvoord was chosen president; the Rev. George Fairlee, secretary, and Edward E. Draper, treasurer. This is the second dinner held by this association which was organized last year. Up to this time Troy had been included in the association of Albany and Western New York.

NOTES.

1878. Dr. Alexander Duane has given a set of Everyman's Library to the Union chapter of the Sigma Phi fraternity of which he is a member. The three hundred volumes of this library are chosen from the best literature of all times which makes it a most valuable addition to a College Fraternity House.

1881. James S. Lawrence has an assay office at Cripple Creek, Colorado. Richmond T. Lomoney is a lawyer at Schenectady.

1885. Rev. Putnam Cady, D. D., is now in the Orient. It will be remembered that Dr. Cady's explorations in the neighborhood of the Dead Sea gained him an international reputation as an archaeologist.

DEATHS.

1856. Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, agricultural director, who has been in charge of the Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration Work in the agricultural department for the last nine years, died at his home in Washington, D. C., on April 1st. Dr. Knapp was one of the foremost experts in the department of agriculture, and was responsible for the American rice which has developed until it is now worth over two million dollars a year. His work in connection with improving the corn crop of the south has been of the greatest importance, and under his direction this section produced last year one-third of the total American output. A recent article on the work of Dr. Knapp appearing in Success gave him the credit of increasing our national wealth twenty million dollars per annum. Dr. Knapp's death comes as a shock to many of us at college as we saw him in excellent health at the Washington dinner less than a month ago.

THE RETURN OF THE SPECTATOR.

The Spectator Visits One of Sir Roger's Descendants.

Having often received an invitation from the multi-great-nephew of my worthy friend, Sir Roger de Coverley, to pass a fortnight with him at his college, I last week journeyed thither. It was with a feeling of some uncertainty, if not apprehension, I must needs admit, that I anticipated the visit; and I accepted rather out of regard for the memory which I cherish of Sir Roger himself than because of any desire on my part to break the peaceful monotony of my life as a shade. My good young friend's communication assured me that he led the quiet and frugal life of a student and that he was well acquainted, through his perusal of my former speculations, with my retiring humor and would leave me as much to my own devices as I should think fit.

It has almost escaped me to make mention of the name of my worthy friend's descendant and likewise the institution at which he pursues studies of a higher nature. He is called Tristram which is indeed a good old name though I must admit my disappointment that posterity has failed to perpetuate the nomenclature of my worthy contemporary. Tristram attends Union college at Schenectady (which appears to me a very quaint name for a town).

I find my young friend comfortably set up in a very interesting abode, which he calls "The Lodge" (though in truth it is very little like the quiet lodge on Sir Roger's estate) and I am already much at ease in my new surroundings. Here I intend to form several ensuing speculations.

The youths in attendance upon the college seem very sober and staid persons and Tristram seems especially industrious; for seldom do I arise betimes to enjoy the early morning solitude without meeting him coming in, very haggard and worn and very red-eyed, and he tells me that he has become quite accustomed to spending the entire night out studying—sometimes getting no other sleep than that which he obtains in classes especially provided by the faculty for the purpose.

On one occasion, in a fit of longing for a quiet time such as we used to enjoy at "Gray's" or the club, I invited my host to the theatre and supper afterwards. I found the play rather unusual, "a burlesque" it was called, and somewhat lighter than the "Distressed Mother" of Mister Philips. The Inn, "Blenn's," also seemed to me to be a little less exclusive than "Gray's" and I heard very little conversation 'round about me that was of exceeding depth. On entering, I could not but observe with a great deal of pleasure, the attention paid my companion by the deft domestics, though I was a trifle perplexed by their apparent familiarity with his name. However, I was touched with a secret joy at the sight of my young friend, who seemed to thoroughly enjoy this relaxation from his duties. I even prevailed upon him to drink a little ale, which he did with relish. The lad seemed, indeed, so well pleased with these new diversions that I determined to encourage him in the future not to apply himself so rigorously to his books. The ale was of a very good quality and the evening passed very entertainingly.

I was surprised to perceive day to be breaking when we reached home. Tristram was very haggard and worn and very red-eyed. My wits have begun to put two and two together. On my word, I have formed a strong liking for my new young friend.
