FATAL RESULT OF LAST GAME

Harold Moore, '08, Killed at New York

Union was suddenly plunged into the deepest mourning when, on the evening of Saturday, Nov. 25, a telegraphic dispatch came from New York to the effect that Harold R. Moore, our brilliant half-back, had been killed in the football game with New York University. The news, coming with no forewarning was so unexpected and stunning that all who heard it were stupified and it was hours, almost, before the full significance of the terrible fact dawned upon us.

Moore's injury, which resulted so fatally, came in the latter part of the first half. Union was on the defensive, being slowly forced back by a series of mass plays and tandem formations. Hayden, New York's right end, received the ball to carry it through left tackle. Moore, playing line half on that same side, tackled the runner and as he did so another Union man also tackled Hayden. Moore, his head struck in some manner, fell unconscious. Several doctors were on the spot at once, applying all possible remedies. R. S. Darling, a N. Y. U. Alumnus, being on the field in his automobile, at once offered the use of the car and Moore was hastily taken to the Fordham Hospital. Here his hurt was diagnosed as cerebral hemorrhage. Everything possible was done for him but to no avail, and death came at 6:40 P. M. His father, William S. Moore, was at the game but went to the hospital with him and was at his side until he died.

Accompanied by several of the fellows, Mr. Moore took his son's body home to Ogdensburg

Sunday night. The funeral was held in the Congregational Church of that place at 2 P. M., Tuesday. The impressive service was largely attended, hundreds being unable to gain admittance to the church. About fifty were present from the college, including Dr. Opdyke, for the faculty, all of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, representatives from the various societies, and nearly all the football team, as well as several others. Mr. Van Horne came from New York to represent N. Y. U. at the funeral. Rev. A. B. Potter delivered an inspiring address. The floral remembrances were most beautiful. Among other pieces worthy of note were those sent by N. Y. U., Moore's fraternity, and the engineers with whom he worked last summer. The college and 1908 had two beautiful pieces, also.

Harold Moore was a member of the class of 1908, being enrolled as an engineer. From the first his excellent work assured him a place on the varsity football team. The college was not represented in basketball, but the Freshmen last year had an excellent team, of which he was a member. He was also identified with track athletics. He was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and a graduate of the Ogdensburg Free Academy. He is survived by his parents and one sister.

* * * *

It is far beyond our power to pay a fitting tribute to the memory of our lost friend and comrade. "Blue" Moore, as he was affectionately termed by the whole college, by his sunny nature and character, has left an impression upon the minds of all who knew him that will not soon fade.

Coming here last year as a freshman, he first endeared himself to the hearts of all Union men by his brilliant work on the football field. In action, he played a hard, clean, and most gentlemanly game, always consistent. As gradually he became known for what he was as a man, his charming personality made over his warm admirers into firm friends. Always the same, good natured, of the best character, modest and most unassuming, he soon became one of the most popular men in college. As a student, in spite of the time he gave to athletics, his work was most remarkable, making him one of the leaders of his class. His teachers have nothing but words of praise for him.

From Rochester:

To the Secretary of Athletic Association of Union:

Dear Sir:—

The students of the University of Rochester, and especially the members of its football team, have learned with sadness of the terrible fatality which claimed one of Union's football team at New York on Saturday. Your team, college community, and Mr. Moore's family have our sincere sympathy for this sorrowful misfortune.

We are indeed paying a fearful price for our football.

Physical Director.

Besides these, messages of condolence were received from the students of Rochester and from Hobart.

To Our Departed Classmate

O cold the art of rythmed lays
With wounded feelings running o'er;
The meagre word, the hollow phrase
Can ill express the full heart's store.

Classmate and friend to mem'ry dear,
An off'ring from the souls' rich mine
Of love is every manly tear
Which falls upon thy sacred shrine.

Though thou are gone, still doth remain,
The lesson that the cruel fate
Which took thy life has left, and fain
Would we its virtues emulate.

Proud learning's boast, stern wisdom's power,
The childish plea of human might,
Each holds its throne; but in an hour,
Is shrouded in the infinite.

We take thy message gratefully,
Friend of our manhood's fairest days,

With clearer vision may we see
And follow virtues' choicest ways.

Christian Association

SUNDAY VESPERS: Rev. G. F. Whittemore on the "Young Man's Horizon."

TUESDAY EVENING: The Nashville Convention, Mr. Saffud, leader.

The Sunday and Tuesday evening meetings will be the last of the fall term but in one respect the most important, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, Mr. Saffud, our State Secretary, will be here and the nature of the Nashville Convention will be explained. Union should be well represented and it is time we began to get ready. Let all come around Tuesday to hear Mr. Saffud speak upon The Student Volunteer Movements Convention.

The Nashville Convention.

Every four years the Student Volunteer Movement holds a big convention of a world-wide nature. This year it is to be held in the United States and at Nashville, Tenn. The attendance will be of about 3,000 credited delegates from all parts of the Christian world, especially college men and workers in heathen lands. The convention aims to give a summary of the progress of Christianity and to further a united advance. Union is allowed four representatives. These are not to be from the Christian Association alone but to come from and to represent the whole student body. Everywhere it is made a college affair for it comes only once in the experience of an undergraduate and because of its breadth is an educational as well as Christian opportunity not to be missed. The speakers are of the best and the delegates as a whole representative of Christian power throughout the world. The date set is Feb. 28th.-March 4th, 1906, and so it is not too early for us to plan that Union may be there.

Vesper Service

At Sunday's Vesper Service. Rev. George E. Talmage, pastor of the Second Reformed Church spoke, taking as the subject of his address the question, "Where Art Thou." After reading from Genesis the story of the fall of Adam and Eve Dr. Talmage said in part: "Do not think that the Lord chased up these people in order to condemn them but to find them that he might save them. The story is one of salvation, of the search to find and bring back. Those who had hidden themselves were in sin and guilt. There are two questions to be brought out in the chapter read. First, is there any revelation to us in the story? and second, the personal question, "Where art thou?"

In taking up the first question Dr. Talmage said St. John's Church stood for years incomplete because of the infirmity of the land on which it was started. Quick sands were found to be the cause, piles and posts were driven in, and the work of erecting the church completed. To make a foundation we must recognize the quicksand—a man must recognize the sin in his life. God gave us life in the world to enjoy and to have the chance to do something good and noble. Doing these things is the good; not doing them is sin.

"As we grow away from the grosser sins the devil becomes more and more subtle. It is the fashion to say that if a man is sincere he is all right, but sincerity is not all that is necessary. He must have judgment. We cannot take sincerity for honesty. Error in judgment is sin and we who have the most advantages are responsible for errors of judgment where people of no opportunity are not. We must recognize that the root of sin is in self-estimation. We want a man to have conceit but we want him to put that conceit into harness."

"The second question: 'Where Art Thou?' In hiding? Hiding from God. A man cannot do it. God will find him out. Nor can you hide from yourself—hide from repentance. The man who tries to hide from repentance is the man who did not mean to do it. Mean not to do it. Where art thou?"

In November Mr. Schermerhorn was promoted to sergeant-major and a month later was commissioned lieutenant for bravery on the battle field. He was later promoted to first lieutenant. While assistant adjutant general in 1863 he was captured at Fairfax Court house by the Confederates, but soon managed to make his escape. He was mustered out of service on May 28, 1863, with the brevet rank of major. Just before he was mustered out of service he was publicly thanked by General Hooker for valiant service. Upon his return to Schenectady he secured the position of deputy collector of internal revenue and also took up the study of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1877, and took up the practice of law, along with a real estate and insurance business. Mr. Schermerhorn was for many years a member of the board of education and also served some time as a water commissioner. He was a member of the Loyal Legion and a communicant of St. George's Episcopal Church. He was married in 1867 to Gertrude Ward and she and four children survive him.

HAROLD RANSOM MOORE

The tragedy of two weeks ago robbed his family of an only son, the college of one of its most loyal and true students, and his friends of one beloved by them for all that goes to make up a man. To say that Harold Ransom Moore was one of the most popular men in college seems to us to fall short of what we should say of him. His qualities were such as to endear him to all; his nature so lovable that he must make friends of all with whom he came into contact. His death left a sense of irretrievable loss in the mind of each and every one of us.

The college has tried, in every way, to show its heartfelt sympathy with the bereaved ones, and there is little left that we can say, except to try to express to his family and also to his fraternity, our great grief and sorrow.

THE BURNING QUESTION

At the present time the feeling at Union against football is intense. Doubtless a canvass of the students would show the majority opposed to it. The feeling is much the same all over the country, a feeling that football, as played now, should not be countenanced and that we are paying too great a price for mere sport.

The Athletic Board and part of the faculty have taken the stand that we should abolish football as now played, but they leave the final decision to the students. The fellows have thus a heavy load to carry, and one which it is not well to shift too carelessly. Some action will doubtless be proposed Monday in college meeting. It would seem best that no action be taken except after careful deliberation. We can be guided in great measure, perhaps, by whatever is the result of last night's conference at New York. It will not do to act too hysterically, as Columbia seems to have done, for we acting alone, can accomplish nothing by abolishing football completely. The game is in fair way to be reformed. Let us be cautious and see the result of this movement. If, as some say, the game cannot be radically reformed without losing its interest, then we say, and we believe that in so saying we voice the sentiments of Union College at least, let us, by all means, drop a game for which we are paying so heavy a price.

CONCORDY ELECTIONS

A provision of the constitution says that the board of associate editors shall consist of six men, and the reportorial staff, of eight. For the past term we have been running contrary to the above provisions, though, happily, not intentionally. Each of these two divisions has had to struggle along short handed. While the various men have carried the resulting arduous burdens uncomplainingly, yet we have determined to ease their labors by opening a competition for the vacant positions. As a result, Herbert E. Cantwell, '07, has been added to the Associate Editors, while Marvin R. Vincent, '08, has been selected to fill the reportorial vacancy, with Philip Shutler as alternate.

We have noticed with much pleasure the several expressions of sympathy and condolence that were sent to the college during the time that sorrow hung heaviest over our heads. Truly such a spirit of good-will is most admirable and we are glad to take this first opportunity of openly expressing our kind regard for those colleges that sent messages of comfort in our season of sadness.

NOTICE FRESHMEN

Those desiring to enter the competition for the reportorial staff can now register.

In the last forty-five years the number of the faculty at Wesleyan has increased from 8 to 33; the number of students from 138 to 305.

College began Monday, after a Thanksgiving vacation lasting from Wednesday last.

Pharmacy Notes

C. E. Gramp, president of the class of '05, has purchased a drug store in Hudson. Mr. Gallagher, president of the same class during its junior year, has sold out his store in Amsterdam.

Mr. Haig, graduate of Albany College of Pharmacy, now employed in a large New York store, spent a couple of days visiting friends in Albany.

Mr. Walker, a member of last year's junior class, but who on account of poor health, was unable to continue his studies this year, spent Monday of this week visiting the school.

College exercises were resumed Monday after the Thanksgiving vacation. No one was seriously injured in the recent skriage with "Turkey."

Class business seems to be rushing just at present, two meetings having already been held this week.

Mid-winter examinations begin one week from Monday.

The Last Game

The last football game of the season, a fatal and terrible ending of a disastrous season, was played in New York against N. Y. U., Saturday, Nov. 25. The game was marked by the best of feeling and was free from any rough work. After the loss of Moore, N. Y. U. outclassed Union.

For the first part of the time the ball was much in Union's territory but two touchdowns were staved off, due in great measure to Moore's brilliant defence work. After his injury, Union smashed through New York's defence for sixty yards, a holding penalty and time preventing a touchdown.

In the second half, the first touchdown came easily. The second was earned only after the fiercest kind of play. Jennings scored both touchdowns. Von Dannenburg, Dann, Harvey and Shutler all did fine work. Line-up:

Football Season

The football season, apart even from its terrible and tragic ending could hardly be called successful. The team, however, worked hard and faithfully and each man did his best. At the beginning the team promised the same spirit and swing that brought the victories last year, but that was soon lost. The Hamilton and Wesleyan games were hard and close together, and the effects of them were apparent in the team during the rest of the games. A victory with Hamilton would have changed the whole aspect, but we must content ourselves with the schedule as it was.

Sept. 30—Columbia 23, Union 0, at New York.

Oct. 7—Williams 12, Union 0, at Schenectady.

Oct. 14—Trinity 0, Union 5, at Hartford.

Oct. 21—Rutgers 0, Union 11, at Schenectady.

Oct. 28—Wesleyan 26, Union 5, at Schenectady.

Nov. 4—Hamilton 17, Union 0, at Schenectady.

Nov. 11—Rochester 16, Union 0, at Rochester.

Nov. 18—Hobart 5, Union 12, at Schenectady.

Nov. 25—N. Y. U. 11, Union 0, at New York.

At a football rally Chancellor Andrews told the sophomores and freshmen of Nebraska university that no more class fights would be permitted.

Athletic Board and Faculty on Football

The Athletic Board held a meeting last Wednesday night and the question of football was thoroughly discussed. It was decided that President Raymond and Dr. Towne should represent the college in the conference that was held in New York last night. After the meeting the following statement was given out by Prof. Opdyke, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board, the last two sentences of which give the general opinion of the meeting:

"The accident of a week ago last Saturday, while not due to those features of football that have produced the most criticism, has yet called sharp attention to the undeniable fact that the game as played at present is a very rough one. If the game is retained, it ought to be made much less dangerous than it is. Whether the danger can be eliminated short of such fundamental changes as would take out of the game the elements of physical strength and endurance that have rendered it attractive to college men is a question that cannot be decided off-hand. I hope that the question may, after proper conference, be answered affirmatively. But if it cannot, then the game must go rather than that college sport should be burdened with very serious risk to life and limb. Football as at present played ought not to be retained."

The delegates to the New York Conference were instructed that it was the sense of the Board that football as at present played should cease to exist. A resolution was also passed which recommends the student body to take action to abolish football as at present played.

Dr. Raymond, when interviewed by a reporter, preferred not to give any particular statement but was strongly of the opinion that the game should be reformed. However he urged no immediate action but advised serious care and deliberation.

Dean Ripton would not offer any opinion until after the conference in New York.

Dr. Stoller, the Secretary of the Faculty expressed himself as strongly in favor of the game as a form of a physical exercise provided the objectionable features could be done away with.

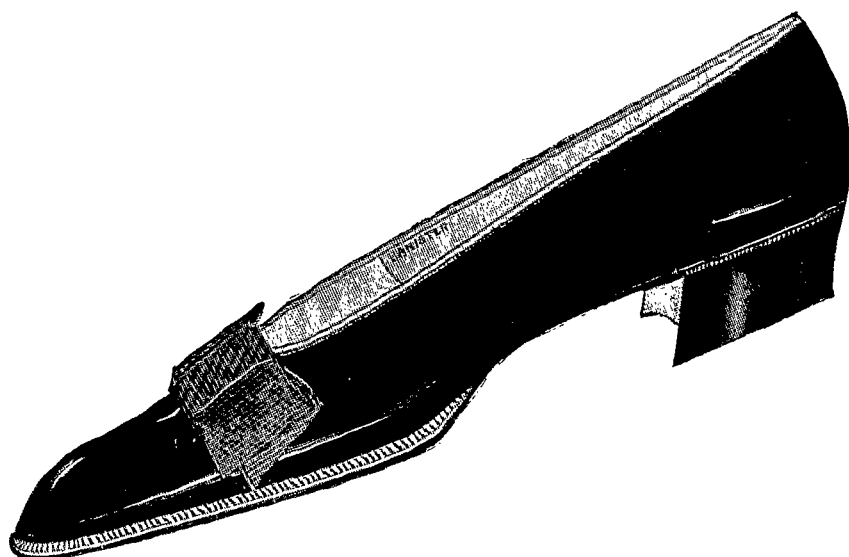

Football Reform

Great interest is being shown this fall, by the public in general and by colleges in particular, in the question of football and its future. Even its most ardent supporters agree that football is not what it should be and some radical change in the game will surely be made before another season opens. Twenty-one deaths and innumerable injuries, ranging from slight bruises and strains to marks that men will carry through life, are the result of the season just closed, and college men and college presidents have taken into their hands what the self-imposed rules committee has failed to accomplish.

Great interest will be attached to the result of the conference of college presidents and delegates held at New York last night. Though the meeting was held too late to be reported in this week's "Concordy," it is safe to say that some definite action was taken. We at Union have had the evils of football in its present ruling brought home to us with peculiar force and are not likely soon to forget the dangers the game possesses. President Raymond and Dr. Towne represented Union at the conference last night and both are determined that a change in the game shall take place. Neither of them believe, however, that rash action is necessary or wise, and wish to see the question decided on its merits.

What the future of football will be is hard to predict. If the element of danger is to be lowered to any great degree the game must be reformed entirely. Changing the distance to be gained in their downs from five to ten yards will tend to make the game more open. But as the majority of deaths this year have occurred in open, not in mass plays, it is doubtful if this change will accomplish the intended end. It will certainly make the game a more interesting one to watch, however.

The rules proposed regarding unsportsmanlike and professional players are most commendable and should certainly be adopted.

Whether Union will have any team next year, even if the game is changed greatly, is a matter to be decided by time. Many of the players who were in the game at the time of Moore's death, and many of those who saw the game, stated that they had no desire to play another game of football. Whether a change in the game will alter their decisions or not cannot be told now. Some of the men will, however, not be allowed by their parents to play next season.

Chancellor MacCracken's Action

Telegram to President Eliot.

Chancellor MacCracken was informed of the accident to Moore over the telephone last Saturday night while visiting his son-in-law, Mr. F. E. Stockwell, of Beverly, N. J. The Chancellor said:

"I am inexpressibly pained and shocked to hear of Mr. Moore's death. I will say that I have, within the last thirty days, said to members of the University Faculty that I have only waited for some of the older and larger universities to take the lead to favor either the abolition or the complete reform of football. I repeated this at the last meeting of the Faculty. I have not felt it to be the duty of New York University to take the lead in this matter. We have discouraged any attempt to play football on a great scale here, and have never allowed the desire to win to affect our requirement of moderation."

The Chancellor sent the following telegram to President Eliot of Harvard:

"President Charles W. Eliot,

"Cambridge, Mass.:

"May I not request, in view of the tragedy on

Ohio Field today, that you will invite a meeting of university and college presidents to undertake the reform or abolition of football?

Foreign Correspondence

Up at St. Lawrence, the fair "co-ed" is causing the faculty a lot of trouble. The St. L. girls possess, like all college maidens, many charms in the eyes of the sterner sex and, 'tis said, tempt them to slight their studies. As a partial solution of the question there, witness the following letter sent to each of the Greek letter chapters at St. Lawrence:

"The Faculty instructs me to acquaint you with the following resolutions, passed at a recent meeting:

I. Each fraternity and sorority shall be limited to two house-parties per college year. This limitation does not include:

- a. Parties given during the Thangsgiving, Christmas and Easter recesses.
- b. The so-called "rushing parties" at the beginning of the fall semester.

II. All house-parties and rushing parties shall close promptly at 12 o'clock.

III. The established public functions known as the Alpha, Beta, and Junior Balls shall be allowed as has been the custom. The closing hour of the same shall be left to the direction of the committee in charge of the respective balls. The semi-public functions of the Freshman reception and Field Holiday dance shall close at 12 o'clock.

No Magic—Just Fair Dealing—Newman.
Clothing and Haberdashery for College Men.

It is our belief that no store, not even excepting stores in New York City, can show more complete and comprehensive lines of Men's and Young Men's Clothing.

The range of prices: Suits $10.00 to $35.00; with full dress and Tuxedo, at $22.00 to $40.00; Overcoats to $45 doesn't mean at Newman's a great many suits or overcoats at one price and a few suits at the other prices.

It means that each and every price there will be a variety of styles for slim men, stout men, long slim men, short stout men, men of regular proportions, and for men of unusual proportions.

In fact, we know that we have made provision for men whose wants have never before been supplied by reputable makers of high grade ready for service clothing.

THE course covering four years begins during the first week in October and continues until June. A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided in small sections for recitation, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction. Students are admitted to advance standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised. The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.
